the military occupation? and under the law of California? Truly, these are questions of the conflict of laws which might give occupation to learned lawyers, much more might bewilder the wits of an unskilled Alderman, who must yet make himself familiar with them and have them in constant regard in almost every act of his official life.

The truth is that the position of an Alderman of San Francisco is both responsible and laborious, and that he who occupies that position during the coming year must devote to it most of his time and attention. He should therefore be paid well for his services. His position is not like that of most cities in the United States, which have gradually grown up from small beginnings, and whose business is mostly done, and properly managed by a few executive and clerical officers, rendering the position of Alderman almost nominal in point of service, and therefore properly purely honorary in point of reward; but his position is rather little that of an Alderman in the city of New York, where the Aldermen are paid stated salaries, not because they are surrounded by the difficulties and perplexities which beset our Aldermen here, for these do not exist in

New York, but because the Aldermen of that city are compelled to devote their time and labor to the public service; because it is right that they should be compensated for their arduous services; and because the best men, and the best talents cannot be obtained gratuitously. This is the result of the experience of that great city—an empire almost in itself—embodied in a recent enactment providing salaries for its Aldermen.

Reason, justice and high example being thus all in favor of providing salaries for our Aldermen, it is to be hoped that the Common Council will make the requisite enactment in that respect. The Common Council is the only power which can make this provision for the coming year, and it will be only meeting the sense and expectation of the public, if that provision is made at once, and on a liberal scale. No decent citizen would think of sneering at the Common Council by alleging that they would thus provide

From Oregon.

The Sacramento Transcript of the 28th inst., furnishes the following important items of information from the above territory:—It will be remembered that the Rev. Mr. Whitman, together with his family and family, were massacred by the Indians at the Mission above the Cascade, in the Kiyose country, Oregon, some time in the year 1817. There were some eight or ten other families temporarily stopping in the place at the time, the male members of whom were also murdered. The women and children were taken prisoners by the Indians, and the young women compelled to become the wives of some of the chiefs. Soon afterwards, Maj. Ogden, commander at Fort Vancouver's assisted by General

Gibbs, started with a file of soldiers into the Indian country, to rescue the unfortunate prisoners, and punish the Indians for the outrage. They found the Indians, gave them battle, in which many of those engaged in the murder at the Mission were killed, and finally succeeded in recovering the women and children, some fifty in number, by hiring the savages to deliver them up. Thus the matter ended at the time. But we learn by a Mr. Field, now in this place, who left Oregon City fifteen days ago, that General Lane has taken decided steps to have a more satisfactory settlement. In March last, he formally demanded of the Indians the remainder of the murderers, and nine of them, including two Catholic priests, have been delivered into the possession of the government of Oregon. By proclamation of the Governor, the Legislature of the territory was convened on the 13th of May met, at Oregon City, to give the prisoners a trial, and our informant thinks that ere this, they have been convicted and put to death.

The chiefs of the Klackatats and Cali-does have tendered the services of their tribes to Gov. Lane. When our inform-so many of their people, it would not be surprising if, as opportunity offered, they lives of such white men as fell into their hands.
